"Joel Ruiz's debut feature film Baby Angelo wins Best Production Design in the just-concluded 4th Cinemalaya Philippine Independent Film Festival at the Cultural Center of the Philippines"

Synopsis:

Though it begins with a mystery, BABY ANGLEO scrutinizes human relationships in the end. The setting is a humble apartment in Manila. A four-month old fetus is discovered in the garbage. Nora (Ces Quesada), the landlady of the apartment, asks Bong (Jojit Lorenzo) to investigate the affair after the police ignores the incident. Bong comes to know each tenant whose occupation, race and age are all diverse. Bong develops a friendship with Apple (Diana Malahay), one of a mysterious group of women who lives on the first floor. Nora herself is having a pained relationship with her husband (Mark Gil), and Bong with his wife Lisa (Katherine Luna). There is a tottering old man, Mr. Chiu (Dante Balois), and colorful brothers MD (Archie Alemania) and Raven (Alchris Galura).
